Shuswap Socred Vote 'Improper'

L. H. (Len) Galbraith of Salmon Arm wants the British Columbia Supreme Court to order another Social Credit nominating meeting for the Shuswap riding. Mr. Galbraith, who was defeated in a bid for the Social Credit nomination July 6, filed a writ Wednesday in Vancouver against the Social Credit League, alleging an improper vote. He alleged that Peere Paynter, chairman of the July 6 meeting, prohibited 16 of his (Galbraith's) supporters from voting because he was a personal supporter of the successful candidate, incumbent Willis Jefecoat. Mr. Galbraith wants the meeting declared null and void and a new, "properly constituted" meeting to elect a Social Credit candidate for the Aug. 30 provincial election.

Premier Peter Lougheed Wednesday pledged to stand with Quebec on relations with Ottawa so that "French Canada is never again isolated." The premier was commenting in Edmonton on last week's provincial prime ministers' meeting in Halifax. Quebec had stood alone many times in the past.

The murder trial of policeman William Phillips, accused of the 1968 killings of a pimp and a prostitute, ended in a hung jury late Wednesday in New York. The jury announced it was deadlocked after 22½ hours of deliberations in two days. Justice John Murtagh then declared a mistrial.

The Globe and Mail quotes Jean Marchand, regional economic expansion minister, as saying that Ontario is the "weak corner" for the Liberal party in the next federal election. In a Quebec City story, the newspaper says the minister said in an interview Wednesday that if the Liberals lose seats in the province it will be to the Conservative Party.

The leading opposition critics of the government's regional expansion policy renewed their attacks Wednesday, one calling for the resignation of Regional Expansion Minister Jean Marchand and the other urging a royal commission inquiry into the department.

Simpsons Ltd. and Simpsons-Sears Ltd. both reported Wednesday in Toronto increases of more than 18 per cent in sales during the first half of their current fiscal year. Simpsons Ltd. reported net earnings before extraordinary items of $5,846,000 or 38.1 cents a share for the six months to July 5 compared with $4,045,478 or 26.5 cents a share for the same period of the previous fiscal year. The company had extraordinary earnings to increase net profit to $7,245,188 or 47.3 cents a share for the first half of the current year.

In St. Jerome, Que., a coroner's inquest into the fatal shooting of 16-year-old Andre Vassart was told Wednesday by a St. Therese policeman that his gun discharged accidentally while he pursued the youth. Constable Andre Goulet said his pistol fired as he vaulted a fence in nearby Ste. Therese. Police have said the youth fled as they were about to question him.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit party has become the first to nominate a full slate of 55 candidates for the Aug. 30 British Columbia general election.

British troops captured Northern Ireland's most-wanted gunman Wednesday, setting off a mob assault on 500 British troops. The attack on troops in Casement Park Stadium, Belfast, capped a day of bombings, gunfire, hijackings and picket vigils in which an explosion took the 502nd life in Ulster's three bloody years. The captured gunman is Martin Meehan, a leader of the Irish Republican Army's militant Provisional wing. He made a sensational escape last December from Belfast's Crumlin Road Jail and was captured in a sweep into the capital's Roman Catholic Ardoyne district.

The Pentagon Papers trial jury in Los Angeles was ordered Wednesday to remain on call indefinitely to judge Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo on espionage-conspiracy charges. U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne, rejecting a last-minute defence move to have a mistrial declared, told the 12 jurors and six alternates to insulate themselves from exposure to publicity on the case and remain a jury-in-waiting for at least two months, perhaps longer.

Firemen brought under control Wednesday a chemical fire in the Los Angeles harbor area which caused damage estimated by firefighters at $500,000. Late Tuesday, as firemen fought the chemical blaze, a 30,000-gallon storage tank was hurled 300 feet into the air by an explosion. The three-hour blaze destroyed 20 tanks containing solvents and acetates. "This is the worst chemical fire I've ever seen," said Deputy Fire Chief Richard Cariger, a 25-year Los Angeles department veteran.

The Netherlands' three-week cabinet crisis ended Wednesday when Prime Minister Bart van Oortras and 13 of his 15 cabinet ministers agreed to new elections on their duties until early in November.

An 11-year-old boy is in poor condition and a 15-year-old condition is in critical condition following a shootout at a Roxbury variety store where Boston police said, a robbery was staged to get money to buy heroin. The 15-year-old boy was in critical condition at hospital following surgery for a gunshot wound in the head. The 15-year-old was critical with wounds in the back, arms and both legs. Police Capt. Joseph Cummings said one of the boys has "needle tracks" on both arms and has admitted having a heroin habit.

Syria Keeps Its Russians

BEIRUT (AP) — President Hafez Assad says he will not order Soviet military advisers to leave Syria because "they are here for our own good." The leftist Beirut newspaper Al-Anwar reported today.

In his first public comment since President Anwar Sadat ordered Russian advisers out of Egypt last month, Assad told an interviewer:

"We need the Soviet advisers. They will carry on their jobs here in accordance with agreements between our two countries." However, the 42-year-old lieutenant general who seized power in November, 1970, expressed hope that the Soviet Union "will react to our requests for arms in a better and more effective fashion."

Soviet unwillingness to supply Egypt with more advanced weapons was a major factor in Sadat's decision.

Assad has been under pressure from domestic politicians close to supporting Egypt to follow the example of Syria's federal partner and send the Russians home.

However, the Soviet military presence in Syria is only about one-tenth of what it was in Egypt. Diplomats estimate there are 2,000 Russians stationed at various army bases throughout the country, and they do not have an operational role as they did in Egypt.

Reds Hold On In Quang Tri

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese marines cleared the southern sector of Quang Tri City except for isolated snipers, but 400 North Vietnamese held firm in the northern half which includes the Citadel, field reports said today.

Associated Press photographer Kolchiro Morita reported from Quang Tri that the marines advanced to the river that forms the southwestern boundary of the city. It was their first progress in two weeks.

Morita said that marine units in both the southern and northern sectors were receiving heavy mortar fire from North Vietnamese troops on the opposite side of the Thach Han River.

A-G's PURCHASE

Ontario Cabinet Members Now Must Show What They Possess

TORONTO (CP) — In the wake of a disclosure that Attorney-General Dalton Bales and two partners stand to make up to $177,000 on land expropriation by the provincial government, Ontario cabinet members have been ordered to provide Premier William Davis with a list of all property holdings.

Mr. Bales has offered to resign and said Wednesday he would decide within two days whether to resign his cabinet post and his seat in the legislature.

Premier Davis told a news conference Wednesday he was trying to persuade Mr. Bales to remain in the cabinet and accused the news media of drawing "prejudicial" inferences on the matter.

The attorney-general offered his resignation because, he said, he wanted to preserve the integrity of the office and not embarrass the government as a result of a land purchase he and two partners made in what was Markham Township.

The land is near the proposed site for Toronto's new international airport and Mr. Bales said he and his partners could make between $77,000 and $177,000 for the farmland which the Ontario government will expropriate.

Mr. Davis said that on Jan. 25 he wrote a letter to all government members asking them to discuss with him any possible conflicts of interest.

He said he received a letter from Mr. Bales Feb. 4 informing him of the land purchase and on Feb. 23 he acknowledged Mr. Bales letter.

"In fairness to Mr. Bales, and I believe there has been unfairness to him, I should say that he brought this to my attention and obviously for my advice and decision."

He said there "was no evidence of impropriety."

Tories Called 'The Spoilers'

STEWART, B.C. (CP) — The British Columbia election is being used by the Progressive Conservative party only as a springboard to put members into the house of Commons, provincial Liberal Leader David Anderson said Wednesday.

"The role of the Tories in this election is that of spoilers," Mr. Anderson told a public meeting that drew about 70 people in this town of 1,300 on the Alaska-B.C. border.

"We had been recently getting away from the scare tactics of voting in this province and had been starting to discuss the issues such as political morality and other important matters," Mr. Anderson said.

"Before that Premier W. A. C. Bennett had said if you vote for anyone else but the Socreds the NDP will win. This tactic worked."

The Liberal leader said the entry of the Tories into the provincial race revives this old situation of splitting the vote.

"The long-term Tory objective is federal. They don't give a damn about the province of B.C. but they are preparing for the next federal election," Mr.

Anderson predicted the Conservative candidate will run federally on the aid they gained by running locally.

PIPF 'INSTALLED

Hard work in the hot sun leads to better service for Inland Gas customers on Lakeshore Drive. The company is currently busy installing about 4,300 feet of four-inch distribution main to service a new subdivision one-quarter mile south of Chute Lake Road on Lakeshore Drive. Test welded and installed in sections, the pipe is designed to handle about 30 pounds per square inch gas pressure to service a region a company spokesman describes as a "rapidly growing area." About six men work on each section of construction at a time and work is proceeding at various locations on Lakeshore Drive.

Law Wasn't In Effect In Time To Stop Island Development

Provincial court Judge Ross Collier of Penticton has made public his reasons for dismissing the charges which were laid against Ed Haymour and his well publicized Ogopogo Island recreational development.

The case which has been under scrutiny since October of 1971 was finally dismissed from the court by Judge Collier Monday. In a written statement the judge cited a telegram sent to Mr. Haymour Oct. 8 of last year as the main reason behind his decision to dismiss the case.

The telegram referred to by the judge was one sent to Mr. Haymour from the deputy minister of municipal affairs advising Mr. Haymour his planned use of the island was out of order with the building regulations which had been passed the same day by the provincial government.

"Although the defendant Mr. Haymour may have ignored that telegram from the deputy minister for other reasons, he was completely justified in doing so since regulations made under the Local Services Act shall take effect and be in force from the date of publication in the B.C. Gazette or such later date as may be stated in the regulations."

"The building regulations were made on Oct. 8 and could not apply to the defendants or to anyone else until Oct. 21, the date of publication," the judge said.

NO RIGHT

The judge said the deputy minister had sent the telegram to Mr. Haymour 13 days before he had the right to do so. This, he said, was indicative of the interest taken in Mr. Haymour and his development by the municipal affairs department.

The original charges had been laid by the municipal affairs department against Mr. Haymour and Haymour Holdings Ltd., after the South Okanagan Health Unit had advised the department of Mr. Haymour's plans and how the health unit objected to them. The Municipal Affairs department had zoned the land as rural and thus said the project planned by Haymour Holdings was not compatible with the zoning by-law. A second charge against Mr. Haymour which alleged he did not have a building permit was dismissed earlier by Judge Collier on a technicality involving the date on the charge.

Judge Collier said he could not see how the buildings constructed by Mr. Haymour on the island were contravening the bylaw.

"In my view, the construction of the structure does not contravene a regulation which is made to permit the use of structures for certain purposes," he said.

He said he felt the building of such structures as built on the island by Mr. Haymour could not be the subject of prosecution.

"In other words, although the use of structures is permitted in a rural zone in the categories enumerated in Section 2.2, I am unable to find that the construction of structures for a use not permitted in a rural zone contravenes these regulations as they are presently worded," he said.

The point used by the defence throughout the case had been that the municipal affairs department were discriminating against Mr. Haymour.

The island, originally called Rattlesnake Island and changed to Ogopogo Island by Mr. Haymour is on the east side of Okanagan Lake across from Peachland.

The developer has created what he terms as a "merger of two cultures" combining the Canadian way of life with an Arab flavor. The judge noted that this desire by Mr. Haymour was the factor which made him plod on even in the face of tremendous opposition by several government agencies.

"Whether or not his imaginative proposals appealed to the tastes of the Okanagan Valley residents, they certainly caught the attention of government officials," the judge said.

431 Jobs For Students During June And July

"Students are becoming more aware of the service we offer," says placement officer, Marcia Butler, who reports student job success has increased since last year.

During June and July, the job placement service, working out of the Canada Manpower Centre on Queensway, found work for 431 students. Last year, there were 100 placements in June and 169 in July, compared with 105 and 236 respectively for the comparison months this year.

"Things are looking better," Miss Butler said, attributing part of the rosy results to an extra placement officer this year, raising the complement from two to three. The extra help was deemed necessary to handle the student volume in Kelowna.

Actual registrations for both comparison months was 604 and 184, and Miss Butler stressed the figures were "not an indication" of the total number of students seeking work since only new registrations during a given month are recorded. Similarly, total placements are not broken down into steady, temporary or casual duration.

Miss Butler also pointed out the reason for the drop in July registrations was due to the fact students made their services available as soon as the high school term ended. Currently, there are about 220 on file for steady summer employment, mainly for the remainder of August. She advises students interested in fall work register at the placement office Sept. 1. Manned by placement officer, Stuart Smithson, the office will be open to the end of September as well as the balance of August when both Miss Butler and Mr. Smithson will be in attendance.

Good Summer For Tourists In Kelowna And District

It's been a good summer for tourists in the Kelowna area. At least it has if the number of enquiries at the Chamber of Commerce office on the west side of Okanagan Lake bridge or the chamber-operated tourist booth on Highway 97 north is any indication.

According to chamber manager Bill Stevenson, the number of enquiries during June and July at both places is up more than 2,000 over last year. A single enquiry is defined as either an individual or group of people seeking information.

"Last year for June and July," Mr. Stevenson said today, "we had a total of 8,602 for both offices and this year, the number is 10,938."

Last week's Regatta saw the number of inquiries jump 759 over last year and on Saturday, the chamber office handled 339 enquiries, which according to Mr. Stevenson, "is at least 10 more than we've ever handled in one day."

"So far I would say August is definitely up over last year at the chamber office and it certainly looks up at the booth."

The number of people who call in at either place looking for information is almost certainly a low percentage of the actual number of tourists who come to town.

"Most people, when they come here, have a rough idea where they're going and what they plan to be doing," says Mr. Stevenson, who cited the weather as a probable reason why the June and July figures were so high this year.

"The weather wasn't particularly good and I would guess the majority of people had intended to go camping, but turned up at the office looking for alternatives."

The chamber office and tourist booth have been operating with one staff member at a time between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. from Monday to Saturday and from noon to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

SOCRED CAMPAIGNERS

Bennett Sharper Than Ever - Kiernan

Heat and an auction sale apparently kept many people from hearing about the benefits of Social Credit Wednesday night.

Only about 80 people were in the Rutland Centennial Hall to hear Ken Kiernan, minister of recreation and conservation, and Pat Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan and minister without portfolio, extol the virtues of the governing party.

Mr. Kiernan has been a member of the government team since 1952, when W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for South Okanagan, became premier, but is not seeking re-election.

Speaking for more than an hour, he condemned those who would dump the premier because of his age.

"I've seen men that are older than Mr. Bennett is, and they are only 40. Mr. Bennett is getting sharper than he was 10 years ago. It will be hard to find someone to replace him when the time comes."

Mr. Kiernan said he was "very impressed" with the growth of this area, which he first visited as a picker in the 1930s.

"It has really been amazing to have had a ringside seat on the growth and development of B.C.," he stated, pointing out that, in 1941, the province had 800,000 people. This year there are 2.2 million people. In both years half the people lived in the Fraser Valley area.

More efforts will have to be made to disperse people through the province, he said, and rejected suggestions of limiting the number of people coming to B.C. "With 60,000 new residents each year, the province is growing at twice the Canadian average."

In 11 years, he maintained, the gross provincial product, and the amount of electric power generated and consumed in B.C., had more than doubled.

"If we price ourselves out of the United States market, we are cutting our own throats," he warned.

While he was all for raising low incomes, Mr. Kiernan warned that improved pension funds for such groups as civil servants and teachers will not be much good if continual salary and price increases continue.

The minister compared B.C.

to Japan, which he has visited twice.

"That country has 100 million people crowded into 147,000 square miles of land, of which about 18 per cent is arable. Coal and copper are the only abundant natural resources. However, by hard work, diligence and intelligence, they made their country prosper."

"B.C. has more than twice as much land, only 2.2 million people, and abundant natural resources. Some areas are crowded, but there are parts of the province inhabited by few people."

Although she was only billed as introducing the guest, Mrs. Jordan also spent about an hour expounding Socred theories. Her riding touches the premier's here.

Taxes in B.C., she said, are

Local Milk Prices Up One Cent Increase For Coffee Expected

In Kelowna, as throughout the province, there has been an increase in milk prices.

W. T. Roth, general manager of Roth Dairies, which distributes for NOCA Dairies local milk, said the increase became effective July 27, a week after prices went up on the coast. He said the price hike, which amounts to a cent a quart for door-to-door delivery, involves homogenized milk, two per cent milk, chocolate and skim milk products. Price for a quart of homogenized milk delivered is now 41 cents, while two per cent is 39 cents a quart.

Supermarket milk prices can vary, but generally are about one cent a quart less than delivered milk, he said.

Last milk price increase came last September, following settlement of the dairy workers' union contract, said Mr. Roth, who indicated contract negotiations are due again this October.

Main reason for the current price increase, he said, was a rise in the cost of paper milk cartons.

An increase in the price of coffee also appears to be on the way, although only one local wholesale distributor could confirm it. The reported increase could be as much as 18 cents per pound.

Kermit Smith, manager of Kelly Douglas Ltd., said notice had been received that all national brands were due for an increase, apparently because of frost damage to this year's coffee bean crop.

"Retail outlets," he said, "will have the opportunity to buy at the old prices until the new stock comes in." Mr. Smith couldn't say just what the increases would be locally, but indicated they would be the same throughout the province.

A spokesman for Malkins, another major food distributor, said as far as he knew, no notice had been received by his office of a coffee price increase. The last rise he knew of came last fall.

Socred Women 'Decorations' Claims South Okanagan NDP

In the Socred government, women are not trusted with "responsible" administrative positions where policy is made.

Making that statement this week, Okanagan NDP candidate, Frank Snowsall, said women should note that "not one of the ladies in Mr. Bennett's cabinet is head of a department" and to the premier women were "decorative, useful for cutting ribbons and holding teas."

He said all responsible positions in the premier's cabinet "are reserved for men."

Observing minister without portfolio, Mrs. Grace McCarthy, will be in the constituency. Mr. Snowsall added "we must ask Mrs. McCarthy why she, and other lady Socred ministers are second-class citizens in the cabinet."

"Why are the ministries of education, welfare, health, labor and finance reserved for men only?" the candidate concluded.

Mr. Snowsall added it has been NDP policy "any cabinet we have women will be mentored." Among "many qualified" women he cited Rosemary Brown, NDP candidate for Vancouver-Burrard.

Kelowna, Rutland, Winfield Still Need Cherry Pickers

A shortage of sour cherry pickers in the Kelowna, Rutland, Winfield areas is expected to continue this week, the Pentiction branch of Canada Manpower reports.

Sour cherry picking is progressing in those areas, with some apricot harvesting underway. Apple thinning is completed.

A slight surplus of inexperienced labor exists at Penticton where peach and apricot harvesting is under way. Peach picking is expected to begin about Aug. 18 to 20. The same labor situation applies at Vernon where cucumbers and green peppers are being harvested.

Sufficient help exists at Summerland until the peach harvest Aug. 21. Picking of apricots is expected to continue until Saturday when peaches will be ready to harvest.

At Oyama where apricot picking is under way, the labor situation is balanced. Peach harvesting is expected to begin Saturday.

Oliver and Osoyoos reports a surplus of inexperienced help where peach picking is just under way, with pear and tomato picking expected to begin Aug. 15.

The same labor situation applies at Keremeos where apricot picking is just about completed and early peach harvesting still under way. Late peaches are expected to begin in a week to 10 days, and pears due about Aug. 20.

Some Lambert cherries are still being harvested at Creston, with some demand for experienced apple thinners. There is a surplus of inexperienced help at the moment. The second cut of hay is under way, with prospects for a good pear and apple crop. Pear harvesting is expected to commence at the end of this month while apples are due about the third week of September.

Rev. Ralph Bastardo will officiate, with cremation to follow.

Lions Members Congratulated As Minister, MLA Cut Ribbon

Rutland received a present Wednesday from its Lions Club. Although not finished yet, the park at Park and Gray roads was opened by Kenneth Kiernan, provincial minister of recreation and conservation.

The opening was to have been later this month, but the date was changed because Mr. Kiernan was here for a meeting in support of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, MLA for this area.

The five-acre park will have recreational facilities for young and old.

Most of the work was done by workers paid by the federal government under the Local Initiatives Program, designed to create winter employment. Club members also contributed volunteer labor.

BOARD NAMED

There are three classes of parks in B.C. Those classed A or B are administered by the government. Those in class C, as this one is, are administered by local boards appointed by the recreation and conservation department. The local board consists of Roy Tanemura, Bill Newman, Alan Patterson and Wally Barnes.

This is the 29th park in B.C., said the minister, of which 81 are Class C or local parks.

"Do not judge the value of a park by the acreage, but where it is and who created it. The Lions Club has been a service club for many years. Where can you find a clearer example of service to the community than this?"

He commended the care, effort and initiative that has gone into the park, and said its value will increase.

Bruce Howard, MP for Okanagan-Boundary, used the occasion to extol federal "make work" programs established by the Liberals.

LAUDS PROGRAMS

"Some years ago, when the government instituted the winter works program for the first time, it was considered quite innovative for a federal government to concern itself with civic matters. How things have changed!"

"With the pressures placed on the economy by record-breaking numbers of young people entering the work force, we've had to look for the things which have been left undone in Canada. Many of these have turned out to exist not in highly-developed urban centres, but in small, struggling communities which, because they were coping with the necessities of new sewer systems, sidewalks and electric wiring, had no money left over for 'frills.'"

Mr. Howard admitted some projects done under the Opportunities for Youth program were "busts." However, among the successful ones, he listed aid given South Okanagan Health Unit to test water.

LIFE QUALITY

"The same thinking was followed in last year's grants for the B.C. centennial. Instead of giving money in a lump sum to the province, the federal government gave to each community for projects designed to enhance the quality of life. Other groups in society began to ask why they could not have money to push their pet projects. So this year the government introduced the highly successful local initiatives program which saw parks completed in Rutland and Kelowna, help to bands, community resource centres and so on."

In Kelowna government money was used to form the Golden Triangle Concert Band directed by Harry Kirke for young unemployed musicians, and to start a community resources centre at First United Church.

These projects, Mr. Howard said, "have given society a much-needed facelift."

The park was among 22 entries considered for submission to a provincial improvement contest by a committee representing Kelowna and district. However, it was not among the seven semi-finalists, so may be suggested another year.

M. W. Marshall, director of the Regional District of Central Okanagan board, suggested that, since residents voted last month to buy 20 acres near Rutland Secondary School to be used for active recreation for young people, the Lions Club park should be developed more for older people.

W. C. Bennett, chairman of the regional district board, also congratulated the club.

Lions president Gerald Woodward expressed thanks for the "fantastic support from the public." Howard Johnson, president when the project started last year, expressed hopes development would continue. Bill Pittendreich, park committee chairman, thanked John Ivens.

Because the Knights of Columbus are giving proceeds of summer bingo games to the park, Roger Dolbec of that group was introduced. The Lions are helping with the games Tuesday nights in Rutland Centennial Hall.

Also introduced was Fred Stevens, president of Rutland Chamber of Commerce and Rutland Agricultural Society.

After the talking, princess Cathy Berner held the ribbon while Mr. Kiernan and Mr. Howard cut it with shears.

Power Creek Area Families Petition For Bus Service

Residents of the Power Creek area have sent a 24-signature petition to School District 23 (Central Okanagan) to boost their argument for bus service.

A group spokesman said today there are 55 high school and elementary students in the Glencoe, Elliott and Smith Creek Road region who currently have to walk 3.2 miles to the Westbank High School and elementary facilities along Smith Creek Road, described as a "bad road."

NFB Presents Film On Saigon

National Film Board's Summer Cinema presents Sad Song of Yellow Skin, a film about the people of Saigon today and Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the NFB Theatre.

Included in the program will be Buster Keaton in the Railrodder. The film shows Buster chugging across Canada in a little railway track speeder.

Along with Buster Keaton, Summer Cinema presents Euphoria, a modern film fantasy that attempts to capture the sheer exuberance of motion for its own sake.

Two animated French-Canadian folk songs, La Vieille and Corvée Gele, and Tynan Larkins' award winning animated film Walking, in which the different ways people walk are captured in soft colors and line drawings, will also be presented.

Admission to the film program is free.

Cloud

The weatherman was in a somber mood when forecasting Friday's weather. He promises mostly clouds, a few afternoon showers and cooler temperatures near 80 degrees. High and low in the city Wednesday was a warm 90 and 64 degrees with no precipitation, compared to 82 and 57 degrees with no precipitation for the same day at the airport. Overnight lows today will be 55 to 60 degrees.

"That's a long way to school," the spokesman said, adding some children found the distance a hardship. The only transportation alternative is to "hire someone" to take students to school.

The petition was circulated among parents last week and copies were sent to secretary, treasurer, Fred Macklin, as well as three school trustees, including Westbank representative, Noll Derrikan, the spokesman said. The matter has been the subject of four petitions in the last 10 years.

School board officials were unavailable for comment at press time, although the question will likely come up at the board's regular meeting today.

Business And Counselling At OK. College

Counselling for business administration courses at Okanagan College is already under way and will continue until the end of the month. Individual counselling will be available with members of the business faculty at the college's campus on KLO Road.

The first year of business administration is offered at both Kelowna and Vernon campuses. At present, second year courses are available at Kelowna only.

Required studies can be organized in a number of ways. Day or evening classes, a full program, one or a group of selected courses may be registered for.

Admission policies permit mature adults to enrol without Grade 12 standing. It is also possible for a student to be admitted with "advanced standing" provided the student has either completed comparable courses at post-secondary level or has had appropriate business experience.

IN COURT

Frank George McCulloch of Kelowna pleaded not guilty in provincial court today to a charge of dangerous driving. The case was remanded for trial to Oct. 31.

The Calgary Chief Issue Embarrasses Canadians

The hassle over the appointment of a United States citizen as Calgary's police chief should never have occurred in the first place.

Surely some ground rules must have been laid down at the outset. The police commission and city council should have decided to hire a Canadian or British subject before they sought applicants.

They should have been more involved with the pros and cons of bringing in a man from the U.S. regardless of his ability and qualifications. But it seems they didn't and an upstanding police expert has been embarrassed.

Charles Gain, the man in question, more or less got Calgary off the hook by withdrawing his application thus nullifying the appointment.

Chief Gain said in his letter to the commission he was withdrawing because of the intense nationalistic feelings he has experienced. It was a point well put.

Gain was not critical of Calgary and as police commission chairman J. E. Prothro said, "He is too much of a gentleman for that."

To top matters off, Gain also would have had to face another stumbling block when the Alberta Supreme Court, after hearing an application from a private individual in Calgary, issued a temporary injunction preventing him from being sworn in.

Apparently Americanism has been made the issue ignoring Gain's outstanding qualifications.

It seems wrong, in view of today's exchange of jobs between Canada and the United States, that some of our cities put out the "Only Canadians need apply," sign.

More than 80 applications were received by the commission and 30 were from Americans. Apparently the Canadian applicants were not quite suitable or their qualifications high enough for the job.

Fraser MacDonald of Esquimalt, president of the B.C. Federation of Peace Officers, has condemned hiring of Gain, but in his statement he said the federation disapproves of the practice of hiring ex-RCMP officers as municipal police chiefs. "The Mounties are highly over-rated," he said. "The Mountie does his job and I do mine—but it's an entirely different job, and they are not prepared for it."

Mounties were considered for the Calgary post.

Mr. Prothro said: "Today, this day, will long endure in infamy. Today I am ashamed." There must be many more Canadians who feel the same way.

Opportunities For Aged

Opportunities for the Aged.

This is how the federal government's latest scheme—this time to involve retired people in a $10-million program called New Horizons Program—could be called.

But judging by all the opportunities given by this government to various groups of people, it's better to simply call it just another Opportunity for the Government to improve its poor record before the constitution forces it to call an election.

The New Horizons Program is aimed at starting various so-called self-help programs by the aged themselves, to help spread our cultural heritage, pass on their skills and to launch any other useful, non-profit activity.

This, in practice, means that groups of 10 or more retired people will be able to obtain non-repayable grants through the department of national health and welfare, Old Age Security and Guaranteed Income Supplement administrators.

Among the projects envisaged by Health Minister John Munro is the teaching of dying skills like silver-smiths, assisting teacher and some physical fitness programs.

So this is the third federal government scheme which gives money to people more or less to do their own thing and the opportunity to compare and to make some observations is irresistible.

The interesting characteristic of all three—Opportunities for Youth, Local Initiatives Program and now the New Horizons Program—is that the onus to find something to do (to justify a grant) is on the people who get the grants. The government merely approves the suggested schemes.

Of the three, only the L.I.P. was really aimed at (or designed to) producing opportunities for practical purposes, mostly because the plans were to a great extent controlled by municipalities.

The most important part about the OFY program is that it is hardly more than an excuse to give young people money, for most, if not all, the OFY schemes duplicate or imitate activities regularly organized under a variety of service organizations. In other words, if you were a boy scout you become a beach lifeguard for free. If you wanted to do the same thing for a salary, you applied for an OFY grant, notes The Peterborough Examiner.

And it is also important that by giving grants to various such groups and for various schemes, the government is in a position to select certain programs to support. In fact, the OFY and the newly-announced program are tailor-made for political use; any number of political activists can form a group and receive a grant for, say, a newspaper which supports government programs.

Another thing is that all these schemes mean only temporary employment and therefore contribute little to the country's or the people's economic life.

During a period in the country's life, when unemployment hit new records and when inflation was getting out of hand we have spent untold millions of dollars on causes which helped the government to quiet the sounds of discontent but did nothing to improve the economic conditions. Who gets the next "opportunity."

New Jobless Report To Be Costly One

BY FARMER TISSINGTON

Ottawa Bureau

of the Kelowna Courier

There have been recent stories that the federal government is considering producing a new type of unemployment report which might cost as much as four times what is presently being spent by Statistics Canada to publish its monthly figures.

Current budget for the statistical agency's labor force survey is just over $2 million annually. If the plan to publish the more sophisticated report goes ahead, the budget would rise to more than $9 million over the next five or six years.

This is a great deal to spend to let Canadians know each month that there is still between five and six per cent of the work force looking for a job. From the government's point of view, the proposed new report would make more pleasant reading.

Prime Minister Trudeau has been unhappy with the present method of counting the numbers of jobless, believing the figures are not a true reflection of the actual state of affairs.

The present system of counting the unemployed has not been changed for 20 years and some of the people who are included in the totals probably should not be. Besides giving a more precise picture of the "true" unemployment situation, the proposed survey would find the reasons people were out of work and check into their motivations for moving in and out of the labor force.

If Statistics Canada does go ahead with the more expensive system, the agency would be wise to cut its costs in other ways and cease the publication of some of the material that now pours from its computers and adding machines.

Statistics Canada frequently publishes information that is as much as two and three years old and which must be of limited value, even to those most interested in the facts and figures. The census always provides the agency with tons of material which is turned out over several years. A case in point is a recent advance bulletin on numbers of livestock and poultry on farms. This bilingual 66-page document is filled with tables of figures on how many geese, mink and rabbits there are in every census division in the country, and how many cows were milked the day before the census was taken.

The agricultural bulletin reveals such fascinating information as: "An increase in duck numbers was reported in all provinces except Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island and average flock size increased in every province."

Statistics Canada could also save money if it pruned its mailing list as hundreds of bulletins go out to organizations and individuals who have little or no use for the information. The waste baskets of members of Parliament and members of the press gallery are mute testimony of this extravagance.

A Saskatchewan MP, Bill Knight, charges that Statistics Canada is engaged in empire-building and notes that its expenditures have risen from $14.5 million in 1965-66 to an estimated $55.5 million in the present fiscal year. Full-time employees of the agency have increased from 2,888 in 1968 to over 4,000 today.

The government has an obvious interest in making the unemployment figures appear as rosy as possible but it surely cannot justify quadrupling the budget for the labor force survey to achieve this end.

CANADA'S STORY

Father Lacombe Headed CPR

By BOB BOWMAN

One of the great missionaries in Canadian history was Father Albert Lacombe. He was born in Lower Canada in 1827, was ordained in 1849, and served on the Prairies until his death in 1916. Early in his career he organized a settlement for Metis at Saint Albert, northwest of Edmonton, and Lacombe, Alta., is one of a number of monuments to his memory.

Father Lacombe was also Parish priest of Saint Mary, Winnipeg, from 1874 to 1880 and helped to bring a number of French-speaking settlers to Manitoba from Quebec and the New England states.

Father Lacombe earned the respect and confidence of the Crees and Blackfeet and his influence kept them from taking part in the Northwest Rebellion in 1885. He also persuaded them not to tear up the railway tracks when the CPR was being built across the Prairies.

For this reason, he was invited to lunch with president George Stephen and other directors of the CPR when the first train arrived in Calgary on Aug. 10, 1883.

The luncheon was served in the directors' private car, and began with Mr. Stephen getting to his feet and announcing that he was resigning as president for one hour. It was then moved that Father Lacombe be made president in his place.

So Father Lacombe became president of the CPR for one hour and this fact is recorded in official records of the company. The directors also gave him $10,000 for his mission, and a lifetime pass on the railway which he often used during the remaining years of his work.

FLIGHT FROM QUANG TRI

Definition: A Massacre

Soldiers and fleeing civilians died in the South Vietnamese retreat from Quang Tri late in April. A U.S. state department report has said of a massacre of 1,000 to 2,000 civilians by the North Vietnamese. An Associated Press correspondent who spent most of the last four months on the northern front examines the episode in the following analysis.

By HOLGER JENSEN

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of South Vietnamese were killed trying to escape from Quang Tri City before its fall. The slaughter was indiscriminate, by definition a massacre.

But from evidence at the scene and in the aftermath, the action April 29-30 was not "a deliberate North Vietnamese army massacre of helpless civilians," as U.S. state department spokesman John King described it.

The carnage suggested a cold-blooded North Vietnamese resolve to stop all traffic on Highway 1, in callous disregard of civilian targets. But there was no evidence of a deliberate intent to single out the civilian refugees.

More than half the victims were South Vietnamese soldiers, and Washington's estimate of 1,000 to 2,000 dead seems inflated.

Interviews with survivors of the massacre and a visual inspection of the death site indicate 200 to 600 dead. Panic was a major contributing factor to the bloodshed.

CUT OFF ESCAPE

North Vietnamese forces surrounded Quang Tri and cut Highway 1, the southern escape route to Hue, a week before the fall of the province capital. South Vietnamese marines who were given the job of reopening the highway fought their way to within eight miles of Quang Tri. Three convoys of South Vietnamese troops and civilians tried to flee southward on Highway One between April 24 and 30. They were ambushed by North Vietnamese forces entrenched on both sides of the highway, four to eight miles southeast of Quang Tri.

This correspondent was with South Vietnamese marines who fought their way to the southernmost ambush site April 30. Wounded survivors who passed the advancing marines said their convoys had been hit by mines, mortar, rocket grenades and small-arms fire from North Vietnamese dug in as close as 20 yards to the roadway.

The state department said the North Vietnamese used anti-personnel artillery shells with fuses set for air bursts, which "shredded the refugee column" with sprays of shrapnel.

Pot May Help Glaucoma Cases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An accidental discovery during research into the effects of smoking marijuana suggests that pot may be effective in treating glaucoma, a major cause of blindness, researchers say.

The ultimate problem will be to develop a non-intoxicating derivative for use as regular medication in treating glaucoma, an eye disease characterized by excessive fluid pressure in the eyeball, says Dr. Ira Frank, an assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of California at Los Angeles.

"We can't have people walking the streets high because of the glaucoma medicine," explained Dr. Stephen Szara, a collaborator with Frank.

Dr. Szara, a National Institute of Mental Health researcher, addressed the International Congress of Pharmacology Wednesday.

Marijuana's effect in reducing pressure levels within the eye was discovered last November during a UCLA study on how marijuana affects a condition called glaucoma.

Advertisements in the Daily Bruin, UCLA campus newspaper, attracted a flood of volunteers for the pot smoking tests, Dr. Frank said.

The study was carried out with 30 healthy subjects, aged 21 to 29.

Dr. Frank said the test results demonstrated that marijuana smoking did not affect visual acuity, color and depth perception, or peripheral vision.

During the intensive eye effects testing, a UCLA ophthalmologist, Dr. Robert S. Hepler, determined that marijuana significantly reduced intraocular pressure.

The normal pressure ranges from 10 to 20 millimeters of mercury. In the test groups, the average pressure after marijuana smoking dropped to 9.2 from 14.3.

Hepler followed up with a marijuana test on a patient with severe glaucoma and a peak pressure level of 56.

The 42-year-old woman puffed her marijuana after standard eye drop drugs had lowered the pressure level to 29. An hour later the pressure reading was 17.

LETTER TO EDITOR

It has been the policy of the Daily Courier for many years that when a public election has been announced letters to the editor concerning the election or candidates running for public office will not be published.

A. C. Bennett has called an election in B.C. Aug. 20 and in accordance with the newspaper's policy any letters concerning the elections will not be published.

But frontline witnesses reported no air bursts before April 30—any such would have killed troops of the North Vietnamese ambush force as well as the fleeing South Vietnamese.

Air bursts were fired by North Vietnamese on April 30-May 1 and many civilians were hit. By then the civilians were intermingled with South Vietnamese rangers fighting their way out of Quang Tri.

ONE WAS VISIBLE

Only a small portion of one ambushed convoy was visible from the South Vietnamese lines in those last hectic days before the fall of Quang Tri. The full savagery of the slaughter did not become apparent until two months later, when Saigon's paratroops returned to the scene at the spearhead of a counter-offensive. This correspondent was with the paratroops.

Hundreds of wrecked vehicles and bodies littered a four-mile stretch of Highway 1. Four out of five vehicles were military—Jeeps, trucks, tanks, armored personnel carriers, artillery pieces and ambulances. Civilian vehicles included buses, motorcycles and bicycles.

Civilian and military vehicles were jumbled so close together it was obvious the North Vietnamese could not fire on one without hitting the other. The concentration wreckage at certain also indicated panic of part of the South Vietnamese.

Convoy drivers appeared to have been so intent on fleeing Quang Tri they continued to drive into withering fire even after lead vehicles were hit and the highway was blocked.

Graves registration workers found 186 civilians dead at ambush sites. Of these, 76 were claimed by relatives. The other 110 were buried in a mass ceremony at Phong Dien on Aug. 1.

It is not known how many military dead were recovered. South Vietnamese officials did not announce the military toll, and informants only knew of a burial service for 40 unidentified soldiers. It appears, however, that most of the victims were soldiers because most of the wrecked vehicles were military.

It seems in all there were 600 dead. This is based on visual inspection by this reporter, interviews and the accounts of other experienced field reporters.

One American here who says he contributed to the report asserts he clearly informed the state department that 100 to 200 civilians had been killed in the ambushes.

He could not explain how the figure had risen to 1,000 except to say: "There must have been a screwup somewhere along the line."

BOOK CORNER

By JACK TRACY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Pierre Vallieres' book Choseel tells the revolutionary story of the FLQ, Liberation du Quebec, in effect, to get lost.

The book by the theoretician of the FLQ, originally published a year ago as L'urgence de choisir, has just appeared in English translation by Penelope Williams. It is one of several books with a left-leaning view of the Quebec political scene published in English this summer.

Another is Quebec—Only the Beginning. Its editor Daniel Drache, a Toronto political economist, introduces its content as "The Manifestos of the Common Front" which he describes as representing "a new stage in the Quebec independence movement."

A third is The Shouting Signposts by a young Anglophone newspaperman, Malcolm Reid. He explores the ideas of the young revolutionary intellectuals whose writings preceded the violence which gripped Quebec province in the late 1960s and 1970.

Wrote Bitter Story

Vallieres came into the public eye through the courts and as author of Negres blancs d'Amérique. This bitter account of life in the poor sections of Montreal was written while he was in jail and published in 1968. Three years later it appeared in English translation as White Niggers of America.

Vallieres, free on bail pending an appeal on a manslaughter conviction resulting from a 1966 wave of FLQ terrorism and also facing charges resulting from the 1970 kidnappings, has been working at Mont Laurier, Que., on a federally-financed Local Initiatives Program project.

Late last year he emerged from 135 days of hiding to renounce violence and the ways of the FLQ.

In Choseel the 34-year-old Vallieres again assumes the role of theoretician.

MUST FIRST UNITE

Its theme is that Quebecers—does not use the word French-Canadian—must first unite, win their independence and then create their own socialist society.

"For colonized Quebecers," he writes, "independence is the only process in the particular historical situation of Quebec that can make them see socialism not as academic discussion, but as a practical solution to clearly identified collective problems."

Vallieres' villains are American imperialism and "one of its many branch plants around the world, English Canada," the Liberal party and "the lumpen-bourgeoisie" assimilated to the dominant bourgeoisie (Canadian and American) and representing their political and economic interests.

He sees Quebec's salvation in the separatist Parti Quebecois whose cause he espoused last winter when he renounced violence.

FEARS PROVOCATION

He urges the FLQ to disappear because, he says, he fears that any further violence such as that of October, 1970, might provide the federal government with an excuse to move in on "the independence and a progressive forces of Quebec before the Parti Quebecois can acquire the legitimacy of a democratically elected government."

Points in Quebec's history, he notes, were the English conquest of 1760 and the failure of the 1837-38 rebellion.

"If we do not unite, we will suffer a third—and definitive—conquest," he writes. "There'll be no further opportunities for battle. We're cornered; we have to win this one, or disappear from history."

Daniel Drache is a 30-year-old teacher of political economy at the University in Toronto. His book Choseel is a translation of the manifestos of the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions, the Quebec Federation of Labor and the Quebec Teachers' Corporation.

The three union groups followed a long period of factionalism by forming a common front last year. Drache notes "the new basis of unity surfaced during the La Presse demonstration of Oct. 29, 1971, when over 10,000 workers took to the streets to oppose the Drapeau-Bourassa-Power Corp. political axis."

Two general strikes in Quebec followed in March and April and then Premier Bourassa's government passed return-to-work legislation.

Drache's summary of the manifestos in some respects echoes the words of Vallieres. But there is a divergence. Drache suggests the common front is "powerful enough to mobilize the working class of Quebec independently of any of Quebec's political parties, including the Parti Quebecois."

Vallieres says "nothing could be more disastrous for the Quebec collectivity than to confront the Parti Quebecois with another 'workers' party'."

But as Drache puts it, "taken together they (the manifestos) speak of a common objective: In order to build a Quebec free of U.S. control and English-Canadian domination the working class must create a socialist society based on the needs of the majority of the Quebec people."

SET SCENE

Before the pipe-smoking, rifle-carrying habitant began to appear on FLQ "communiqués" some young French-Canadian intellectuals set the scene for what was to follow.

To author Malcolm Reid, 31, their small letters—a magazine for the separatist left—appeared in October, 1963, the year the first FLQ bombs exploded in Montreal mailboxes.

Reid describes the words "parti pris" as "the prejudice (with which) every partisan starts his partisan remarks by vowing he has set (it) aside."

He quotes its opening editorial.

"We fight for the political independence of Quebec because it is an indispensable condition of our liberation; . . . and we believe that the control of the economy, the means of production, cannot be authentic unless it is in the hands of all Quebecers in the service of a total transformation of our economic system."

Reid, who has worked in Quebec province variously as a reporter with Sherbrooke Record, The Canadian Press and Toronto Globe and Mail, first became acquainted with Parti pris when, as he puts it, "I was in the Parti socialiste du Quebec."

He grew up in Ottawa in an English-speaking, civil service family with CCF leanings. His book deals sympathetically with the separatist left. He is married to a French-Canadian girl.

The heroes of his book are what he calls "participates," all iconoclasts in the straight view. They are such as Pierre Maitre from the wealthy Montreal suburb of Outremont and now with the National Film Board—"from Duplessisism to the FLQ," Jean-Marie Plote, from Montreal's east end—"toward a total revolution," and Paul Chamberland, who wrote "a chant of revolution."

Chamberland's book, L'Afficheur, provided the title for the field volume, its literal translation is "the poster-hanger screams."

"I thought of myself as one of those guys who write political slogans on walls. A signpainter, a shouting signpainter."

NDP Campaign Richer By $480

Local NDP campaign is richer by $480 following a meeting of the party Tuesday at which more than 70 supporters gathered to congratulate the candidate for their interest in the political life of this province.

South Okanagan NDP candidate, Frank Snowsall said the premier "hopes that calling an election in August will result in the return of his government by default. Your interest shows that he is mistaken."

Mr. Snowsall was introduced by campaign manager, Roli Cacchoni, who recounted the candidate's experience as an MP and his service record as a member of the CCF-NDP, as well as a teacher.

"Frank has been visiting and listening to people in their homes and has shown his concern with the problems of the people," Mr. Cacchoni said, adding "if he is elected, he will represent people . . . not corporations or special interest groups."

Mr. Snowsall accused the premier of "disfranchising thousands of people by calling this unnecessary election, including teachers attending summer school whose only holidays will be the final two weeks of August." He said the premier had "two more years of power" and could "right now be doing the things he is promising to do if re-elected."

The speaker said the premier "is spending on this unnecessary election one million of your dollars, dollars which could be better spent in providing work for youth, hospitals, homes, loans to small businesses, farmers and to supplement the incomes of families starving on welfare allowances of $169 a month." Election money could also be spent "to aid those who cannot share the good life lived by Bennett and his buddies," Mr. Snowsall declared.

Citing the quarter million dollars raised by compulsory levy on insurance agents, salesmen and agencies to help finance Socred election campaigns, Mr. Snowsall said "while in Saskatchewan and Manitoba auto insurance rates are going down, in B.C. ours are going up eight per cent" with each insured motorist "compelled" to contribute to Socred election funds.

He said in Massachusetts, when private insurance companies over-charged motorists when no-fault compulsory auto coverage was introduced, the state government ordered a 30 per cent reduction in premiums and a refund to motorists of between $30 and $40 million.

In the province, as William Hartley, MLA for Yale-Lillooet demonstrated, Mr. Snowsall added, B.C. motorists "have been over-charged between $14 and $15 million each year since Bennett introduced his no-fault insurance."

"But there are no refunds to B.C. motorists, just a further eight per cent increase," the speaker declared.

The attendance responded with contributions of more than $480 following an appeal for funds by assistant campaign manager, William Boyd.

CANADIAN BID

Britain Delays Decision On Nuclear Partnership

LONDON (CP) — Britain has delayed any final decision on the type of nuclear power program to be developed in the country but officials say a Canadian bid for a nuclear partnership is still under consideration.

Canada has proposed that the British concentrate on steam-generating, heavy-water reactors similar to the Canadian pressure-tube systems.

The Canadian proposal calls for a partnership deal with Britain to include the full development of similar systems in both countries. Reduced production costs would enable the Anglo-Canadian systems to compete internationally with the Americans, Canadian officials believe.

DELICATESSEN WAS A BARGAIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man suspected of breaking into a city delicatessen with another man and selling its stock at bargain prices to overnight customers has been charged with breaking and entering and attempted car theft.

Thomas Michael Patrick O'Neill, a recent arrival from England, was arrested at the rear of the delicatessen after a neighbor saw someone trying to steal a car from the lane.

When police arrived, they found the rear door of the delicatessen had been forced open and part of the store's stock missing.

Later, proprietor Karl Grohs, who opened the new store for business Friday, learned that two men had opened his shop about 2:30 a.m. and sold about $300 worth of stock to customers until they "closed" around 8:30 a.m.

O'Neill was remanded for psychiatric observation.

The British government announced Tuesday, however, that it will continue to explore several types of nuclear power systems, including the heavy-water variety, for up to 18 months before a final selection is made.

PROGRAM TO BEGIN

John Davies, secretary for trade and industry, said a $15-million component development program will be started for the heavy-water system. But he made no direct reference to the Canadian offer, presented in June by Lorne Gray, president of Atomic Energy of Canada.

Davies said the heavy-water system is "a strong contender for adoption in the British grid system, the government is most firmly backing it up."

A prototype of a heavy-water reactor has been working in Dorset for the last four years but no buyers have appeared so far.

Davies said Britain places great importance on the possibility of close collaboration with other countries in nuclear power development but he declined to name which states he had in mind. Sources in the trade department stress, however, that the Canadian bid is still under consideration.

CAMP COUNSELLOR. Noelle Ponich of Kelowna, takes a little camper on a story land trip at the Book Room at the Okanagan Easter Seal Camp. The library is located in a quiet shady room in the basement of the main complex, where arts and crafts used to be taught. Jig saw puzzles can also be worked in the quiet area. Donations of books or puzzles are welcome. (Courier-Photo)

EASTER SEAL CAMP

Progress Noted At Open House

Donations of time, money and equipment and other articles are slowly building the Okanagan Easter Seal Camp at Winfield into a complete recreational complex where handicapped persons may experience a variety of projects.

Visitors to the annual open house on Sunday were impressed with the progress made; the renovation of existing buildings, the expansion of others and the additions begun.

The site is located three miles west of Winfield in the heart of the Okanagan Valley. Lying on the east bank of Lake Okanagan, the grounds comprise 22 acres of land in a rustic setting of Ponderosa pines.

The camp is owned and operated by the B.C. Society for Crippled Children and financed by donations raised through the Easter Seal Campaign supported by the Lions Clubs and affiliates throughout British Columbia. Donations from other service groups, sympathetic individuals and businesses account for the balance.

One such donation from an anonymous donor of $2,800 will go towards further improvements on the buildings and a donation of $2,000 from a large Valley... has been earmarked for completion plans for Walker House donated by the same firm last year.

NEW CRAFT CENTRE

Walker House which now houses the arts and crafts which used to be located in somewhat cramped quarters under the main building, consists of 2,834 square feet. Slight alterations to the partitions have made specific areas for the camp nurses' quarters and the infirmary; the camp director's office and quarters, storage area, additional personnel quarters and a large arts and crafts area. It is amply lit with multi-fluorescent lights, which came with the building. Other equipment in the building moved to the site last August, include a water heater, furnace and two air conditioning units. The installation of these units are part of the completion plans, which also includes tiling the entire floor. The tiles have already been purchased.

VOLLEYBALL

Another source of income for the society is the rental revenue from the B.C. Volleyball Association which holds its annual training camp at the camp. The rental of $2,600 went towards installing two more complete bathrooms, with showers and a tub. The additional facilities were badly needed at the camp where the average attendance of 10 to 15 campers plus a staff of 19 added up to a big demand for showers especially in the hot weather.

Staff members are: camp nurse, Mildred Waldron, RN, and her assistant, Dinne Goertzen. Camp counsellors, all dedicated young people, who give more than time and leadership skills, are Linda Manarin, Chuck Spoley, Jan Atcock, Roy Sprinkling, Wayne Wilson, Noelle Ponich, Richard Macklin, Murray Shaw and Gordon Govan, are all from Kelowna and area. Other counsellors are Jane Moorhouse of Winnipeg; Susan Sager, Crescent Beach and Jane Alderton of Vancouver. The young people who conduct the varied programs in arts and crafts, sports, nature lore, water games and swimming, have developed a deep empathy for their handicapped charges.

In charge of the kitchen is Irene Treger with Sigrid Madson and Suzanne Hillman rounding out the kitchen staff. Bill Treger is in charge of maintenance and this year, a donation of 1,400 yards of green sod has required tender loving care, especially during the last few weeks of hot weather. The donation was a gift from the Volleyball Association, whose members came and laid the turf.

Camp director, Doug Hillman in his third year at the Winfield camp, is everywhere. In his second year as director, Mr. Hillman has built up a keen interest in the camp program.

POOL PLANS

Plans are in the making to update the swimming pool—the major core of the camp program which this year is comprised of seven sessions; five eight-day sessions, one nine-day session and a 10-day session. As visitors stroll throughout the complex, they become aware of the happiness and good fellowship which prevails among the campers, many of whom would never have an opportunity to relax in natural surroundings. As you witness the individual attention given by the counsellors, helping a young boy to learn to swim or to tie dye a T shirt, you realize the purpose of the camp.

By providing the opportunity to participate in a full recreational program in a routine different from school, hospital or home, campers learn that their disabilities need not be a social handicap.

As you tour the complex you also learn that many hours of volunteer labor go into the improvements. Members of the local Lions Clubs alone have accounted for 1,000 man hours the past year.

DONATIONS

You also learn that individual donations of articles help to make the setting more comfortable, such as the gay drapes and curtains donated by different residents. Other donations are welcome and at the present time, high on the needed list are sporting equipment such as ball gloves, tennis racquets, fishing equipment.

On the functional side, office equipment, typewriters, filing cabinets would help to make the operation more efficient. Articles such as large cooking pots, vacuum cleaners, lawn mowers would be welcome additions to the maintenance department.

If you have any 'spares' around your home, call 763-2004.

Kelowna's newly crowned royalty, Lady of the Lake, Lindsay Ritchie and her Princess, Donna Mae Hamilton, who were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hilborn, have returned from a most successful visit to the Diamond Jubilee celebration at Nelson.

In addition to riding the award winning city of Kelowna float, Lindsay was asked to speak on behalf of the city at the Miss Nelson pageant, which she did most effectively.

Social events included a royal breakfast, royal luncheon and royal ball following the pageant. They met Lieut. Governor John Nicholson and Minister of Highways, Wesley D. Black. Everywhere they went they were the centre of attraction in blue Regatta theme dresses. Hospitality of the Kootenay city was tremendous, according to director of royalty, Mrs. Hilborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Stewart were hosts to a Sweet Adeline box lunch supper recently at their lakeside home on Abbott Street. In addition to Sweet Adelines and their families and spouses, members of the Barbershoppers were guests, along with their wives. Swimming and water skiing and harmonizing were the main entertainment of the happy evening.

Lester Justinen of Sidney, B.C. and son Larry are visiting with his son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thorp and Harold Justinen of Kelowna.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Marsh and son Christopher left for their home in Wood Mountain, Sask., after spending the summer with Mr. Marsh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Marsh, 1511 Mountain Ave. Mr. Marsh was employed with the RCMP for the summer. He has accepted the position of principal at Wood Mountain beginning on Sept. 1. Enroute they are visiting with Mrs. Marsh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Janke of Swift Current, Sask.

Visitors from Weyburn, Sask., with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fry of Poplar Point Drive have been old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Schultz.

Margaret Daniel Wed' At Coast

A double-ring ceremony solemnized in St. Michael's Anglican Church, Vancouver, united Margaret Edna Daniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Daniel of Kelowna and Donald John Graham of Vancouver on July 28.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an ivory colored crepe gown with roll collar and long flowing sleeves. Over this she wore a sleeveless coat of ivory lace en train. A small tiara held her ivory shoulder-length net veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations, with a sprig of heather for good luck.

'Something old' was a gold necklace; 'new' were her pearl earrings, a gift from the groom and 'borrowed' a five cent piece. A blue garter completed the traditional sentiment.

Matron of honor was Mrs. S. W. Stuart of Vancouver and bridesmaids were Patricia Johnson and Margaret Anne Johnson, also of Vancouver.

They wore similar gowns of blue, yellow and pink flowered sheer with short sleeves and V necklines. They carried small nosegays of daisies. Wide brimmed white straw hats with matching wide ribbons completed their ensembles.

Don Forrester of Vancouver served as best man and ushers were Ken Johnson and Tom Daniel, all of Vancouver.

For the reception which followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Roxburgh, North Vancouver, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a blue figured dress with long full sleeves topped with a sleeveless navy blue coat. A small hat of white flowers and white carnation corsage completed her ensemble.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Charles Munslow of Kelowna and during the evening the guests were entertained by 12-year-old piper, Graham Flynn and by singer Ian McDonald of the Vancouver Scottish Society, who sang several songs in Gaelic and English. Master of ceremonies was Dave Roxburgh who read telegrams from Prince Rupert, Viking, Alta., and the Isle of Skye, Scotland.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. R. Keizer, the four grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daniel, Tom Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Munslow, Jim Thompson, all of Kelowna; Mr. and Mrs. David Daniel, Vernon; Mrs. J. A. Taylor, Cloverdale and Rick Hoffe, Viking, Alta.

The couple made their home at 1550 West 10th, Vancouver.

Canadian Cheese Consumption Doubled In Last 10 Years

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadians are quickly catching up to Europeans in adventurous tastes for cheese, says Joe Ditkofsky, president of the Crescent Cheese Co. of Montreal.

"Canadian consumption of cheese has almost doubled in the last 10 years and people are taking a far greater interest in learning about different types rather than relying on old standbys," he said in an interview.

Cheddar is still "the Canadian cheese," but in major centres such as Montreal more than 135 varieties of cheese are stocked to meet demands of increasingly sophisticated palates.

Mr. Ditkofsky said that while relatively mild Dutch Gouda is the best-selling import, shoppers are tending to reach for stronger Camembert and exotic goat cheeses.

His company supplies the country with about 15 million pounds of cheese a year, both natural and processed types produced in the Montreal plant, and imports from Denmark, Switzerland and the Netherlands.

What makes a Cheddar and what makes a Tillamook depends on a series of carefully controlled factors from the fat content of the milk used and the type of timing of bacterial cultures added, to the temperatures reached in "cooking" and the length of aging.

Basically, natural Cheddar begins as milk which is pasteurized in the cheese plant then pumped into a vat where cultures and rennet, an enzyme to coagulate the mixture, are added.

The mixture is heated while whey is drawn off and acid levels checked, until it is thickened to a curd-like consistency. After salting, the curds are put into moulds and pressed into 40-pound blocks.

If a block is to be sold as mild cheese, it is kept for two weeks at a 50-degree temperature, then graded, cut and packaged.

If a sharper flavor is desired, the milk used is not pasteurized as this destroys too many of the bacteria needed for developing flavor during the aging process.

The milk for stronger cheese is heated to a lower temperature sufficient to eliminate only some of the bacteria and the end product is aged for at least 90 days. During aging, the cheese is continually checked, turned and tasted to ensure it is not being spoiled by too much bacterial action.

"Natural cheese is white ranging from a pretty anemic color in the winter when the cows are eating fodder to yellow shades in the summer when they're getting lots of grass and buttercups with pigments that show up in milk products," Mr. Ditkofsky said.

This trio of members of Valley Lions Clubs are among the Lions who have contributed a total of 1,000 man hours during the past year to the Okanagan Easter Seal Camp for handicapped, located at

Winfield. They are seen here approving of the selection of floor tiles which will cover the 2,834 square feet in Walker House, the arts and crafts centre. Left to right, Alf Rader, Winfield Lions Club, who

"Is it ready?" a young camper asks Linda Manarin of Rutland as he stirs a T-shirt in a can of dye. Linda, who is busy winding cord for her next class in macrame, is supervising the handicapped youth in the art of tie-dyeing. She is one of the staff of counsellors serving campers at the Okanagan Easter Seal

Camp at Winfield where another group of the seven separate sessions of campers is currently relaxing in an atmosphere of good fellowship and wholesome recreation. Counsellors not only give instruction in arts, crafts, sports and swimming but also take a personal interest in each camper. (Courier photo)

ANN LANDERS

Adopted Child May Be Short Changed

Dear Ann Landers: If you think you've heard everything, you're in for a shock. This has got to be a first for your column.

A friend of mine has just succeeded in adopting a child. She and her husband have been on every waiting list imaginable for six years. They brought the baby boy home from the hospital last Sunday. Today I went to visit her. When I arrived, she said, "Oh—you're just in time for Billy's feeding." With that she went to the nursery, brought back this darling infant and proceeded to go through the motions of breast-feeding him. I thought I was seeing things because I know perfectly well that it is not possible for a mother who has adopted a child to nurse. I sat there dumbfounded and finally I said: "How do you know when the baby is finished?" She replied: "I watch the clock. The doctors say 15 minutes and no more."

I'm beginning to doubt my own sanity, Ann. Does this woman have a screw loose? If so, what's with her doctor? Can it be that I am mistaken? Please settle this. I think I'm Cracking Up.

Dear Cracking: No, you are not mistaken. The woman does indeed have a screw loose. Her doctor is undoubtedly pacifying her.

I hope for the baby's sake that she is giving her child supplemental feedings because he is not getting any nourishment from her.

Dear Ann Landers: My dear sister just lost her husband to cancer. She had her children late in life and now she must go out and make a living. Unfortunately, she looks every day of her 52 years. I've urged her to get a face-lift. Will you recommend a doctor in Phoenix? I've seen some lifts that were flops and I'd feel terrible if my sister had one on my say-so and was ruined. Thank you for your help.—Hopeful

Dear Hope: You thanked me too soon. I am not going to make any recommendations. The success of a face-lift depends on many factors, in addition to the skill of the surgeon—for example, the texture of the skin, the amount of work that needs to be done. Also the expectations of the patient. (Is she hoping for a miracle?) Your sister should consult her family physician.

Uses Of Peanut Number 326

TORONTO (CP) — Some one once counted, and found 326 uses for peanuts, not all of them intensely practical.

A lot are, though. They include the use of peanut, plant or shell in shaving cream, shoe polish, dye, fertilizer, insulation filler, sweeping compounds.

Nancy High says only in North America are peanuts used in peanut butter, and its manufacture accounts for about half the entire U.S. crop.

Miss High is home economist for the Peanut Growers' Association of North Carolina and Virginia. She was in Canada on a promotional tour sponsored by Canada Packers Ltd.

She says China and Africa are the biggest producers of peanuts.

"They are used mostly for oil for cooking. They are pressed and the remains used for fodder. I sometimes think if we could teach people to eat the peanuts instead, it could be part of a solution to world hunger."

BIG FOR COCKTAILS

Miss High says the biggest peanuts in the U.S. production are the ones used for cocktail peanuts, and are mostly grown in North Carolina and Georgia.

"Standard peanuts are french fried."

"Dry roasted peanuts haven't any fat removed, as is commonly believed, it's just that no oil is added. They are coated with a gelatinous material to which salt and spices will adhere, and roasted."

"The caloric difference is negligible."

"Peanuts aren't really very fattening, though somehow they get the blame when people eat them at a party where they have drinks and then go on and eat a big dinner."

She says someone has also said the peanut butter and jam sandwich is second in popularity only to the hot dog in the U.S. However, she admits she isn't sure how the research was done.

OIL IS ADDED

"Peanut butter in Canada has to be 96-per-cent peanuts. The different tastes come from different methods of roasting and from additives."

"The additives are sugar, salt and some vegetable oil. Oil has to be added or the peanut butter would be too dry."

She says peanut butter began life as a health food about 100 years ago when a St. Louis doctor was looking for something cheap, nutritious and digestible for his patients to eat.

He made it in an ordinary kitchen grinder. You can make it in a blender, if you like, but Miss High says you will want to add salt and oil, even if you start with salted peanuts.

She said there is no sure way to tell if peanuts in the shell are fresh.

"You're buying a pig in a poke. Shelled peanuts are a better buy for freshness."

"Peanuts will keep for a couple of years under refrigeration."

"They are technically a legume, like peas and beans, though botanically they're a fruit because they flower and then produce their peanuts."

Softer Line For 'Haute Couture'

ROME (AP) — Italian fashion houses unveiled their fall-winter collections with designers trying to entice rather than command.

"There is no longer a hard trend in haute couture," said U.S.-born designer Tiziani, normally one of the pace-setters for the jet-setters.

Despite what he said, Tiziani's style is a classic sportswear look for daytime or evening wear. Coats are looser with modified kimono-type sleeves.

Designers are trying to eliminate such superfluous features as padding, and to keep the lines simple and sober. But they have made up for it in other ways.

Fancy jewelry is an eye-catching feature of many collections, including chains, strand necklaces and brooches, black beads and pearls.

Also in vogue are the soft cloche hats, little caps and berets so soft they can be stuffed into a handbag or pocket when not needed and pushed back into shape later.

Talitzine offers fur turbans as an option.

Some designers still favor trousers, baggy for evening wear, while others feature the easy-to-wear shirtwaist dress. Dresses have the last word in a bid for greater femininity. Skirts are mostly knee length, in daywear at least, but one designer plans to lower hemlines at the back into a sort of train.

Curse Of Taylor Field Again Haunts The Argos

REGINA (CP) — George Reed was the spirit Wednesday that enabled Saskatchewan Roughriders to maintain the "Taylor field curse," an affliction suffered by Toronto Argonauts for some time.

He rushed for 129 of Saskatchewan's 198 yards on the ground and led the previously winless Roughies to a 15-6 victory over the bewitched Argonauts.

The loss left the Argos the only Canadian Football League club without a win in the 1972 regular season. Also, they have not won at Taylor field since CFL interlocking play began in 1961.

Both teams remain at the bottom of the standings in their conferences and both are injury-ridden. Saskatchewan is without veteran Nolan Bailey, Glig Perez and Ted Duchinski, and Toronto is without first-string quarterback Joe Theismann, sidelined six weeks with a leg fracture.

Second-string quarterback Greg Barton called the signals for Toronto but was good on only 14 of 29 passes and had three interceptions.

Veteran Ron Lancaster of Saskatchewan completed 12 of 20 attempts and had one interception.

It was Reed's rushing, however, that ruled the game. Reed made 25 drives, including a second-quarter touchdown from three yards out.

The scoring started at 3:40 of the first quarter when Zenon Andrusyshyn of Toronto kicked a 27-yard field goal and Saskatchewan made it 3-1 on a single at 11:34 as Elmar Sprovis conceded a point.

The Argos got their last three points of the night at 14:58 of the second quarter on a 19-yard field goal by Andrusyshyn.

The third quarter was tough and scoreless.

Bobbie Thompson got the last touchdown after receiving a 40-yard pass from Lancaster.

Jack Abendsehan converted both Regina touchdowns.

Andrusyshyn showed his worth in third-down punting with an average yardage of 47.2 yards on 10 Toronto punts. Bob Pearce of Saskatchewan had nine punts for an average of 38.8 yards.

Pearce also was Lancaster's prime receiver, although passing was not the major factor in Saskatchewan offence. Pearce caught four passes for 37 yards while Thompson got two for 48 yards. Gordie Barwell two for 29 and Reed two for 16.

Reed's touchdown moved him into a four-way tie for third place in the Western Conference individual scoring race with 12 points.

Top rusher for the Argos was Leon McQuay with 43 yards on 11 carries. They had a total of 78 yards rushing.

Barton's favorite passing target was Mike Eben, successful six times for a total of 74 yards while he tagged Eric Allan five times for 67 yards.

Both teams play next Wednesday when Ottawa Rough Riders are at Toronto and Saskatchewan is host to Edmonton Eskimos.

Hugh No Problem Claims Al's Brule

MONTREAL (CP) — Hugh Oldham, Ottawa's fleet flanker, has always been a thorn in the side of Montreal Alouettes defenders when they have played the Rough Riders in the past.

But Paul Brule, the defensive halfback the Alouettes picked up on waivers from Winnipeg Blue Bombers, says he has never had trouble with Oldham.

"The last game the Bombers played was against Ottawa, Cassata (Ottawa quarterback Rick) threw to Oldham once," he said.

Alouettes, who play Riders tonight in their home opener, hope Brule keeps his lucky streak going in the Eastern Football Conference game, scheduled to start at 8 p.m. EDT. It will not be televised.

Brule was thinking he had it made with Blue Bombers when the axe fell last week.

"I was playing superbly—I hadn't gotten beat or anything in four exhibitions.

CUT WITHOUT NOTICE

"Then Jim Spavital (Winnipeg coach) calls me in at 1:55 and the cut deadline is 2:00. He tells me I've been cut and I was part of a trade. That really burned me."

"It doesn't help your pride too much to be cut like that and used as a pawn in a trade."

Brule, a native of Montreal and a graduate of St. Francis Xavier University, says he's counting the days until his travel to Winnipeg.

"Wednesday, Sept. 27, I'm really looking forward to that. They're going to find out they made a big mistake."

Meanwhile, Brule is getting used to living in Montreal again and is looking for an off-season job. He taught high-school English in Winnipeg for two years and then worked as a management trainee for a department store chain.

"I'm bilingual," says Brule, who took French as his major at St. F-X. "I've always wanted to come here. When I was an all-star in 1970, I was asking to be traded—preferably to Montreal. I love it here."

Canuck World Records In Wheelchair Olympics

HEIDELBERG, West Germany (CP) — Paraplegic athletes from Canada won a total of 19 medals in the 1972 wheelchair Olympics games which closed here today.

Among the Canadian gold medalists, three contestants set world records for their class of disability in the 10-day Games.

Eugene Reimer of Abbotsford, B.C., bettered the previous discus record for Class Four paraplegics by more than one metre with his throw of 29.21 metres in the final.

In the Class Four 100-metre wheelchair sprint, Bob Simpson of Toronto raced home in 21.0 seconds, almost one second faster than the previous world best.

Richard Wosnoek, Montreal, clocked one minute 42.3 seconds in the 75-metre individual medley for Class Two swimmers to add a third world record for Canada.

On the closing day of the Games, Reimer and Hilda Binns, Hamilton, Ont., fared well in the pentathlon event, winning a gold and a bronze medal respectively.

Reimer won the gold with a total of 5,141 points in the five-event contest which tested the athletes' ability in swimming, shot putting, discus throwing, archery and the 100-metre spring events.

Miss Binns was third among the Class Three competitors with 3,901 points.

Other Canadians among the top medalists in 21st Stoke-Mandeville Games, as they are officially known, were Doug Bovee of Edmonton and Veronika Dmerekas of Winnipeg who won three medals each in Class 1A events.

Bovee was first in the slalom.

Canada was placed eighth out of the 44 countries participating.

SIDELINED

Toronto Argonauts' quarterback, Joe Theismann, is joined by his son, Joe Jr., while recuperating at his Toronto home from a broken leg suffered in a football game last Thursday. The former Notre Dame star and the Argos' number one signal caller is expected to be out of action until November. The injury to Theismann has been felt hard by the Toronto club as they are winless in their first two season games, including last night's loss to the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

B.C. Swimmers Dominate Meet As Olympic Trials Continue

WINNIPEG (CP) — British Columbia swimmers continued to dominate the Canadian swimming championships and Olympic trials Wednesday, winning six of eight events.

The B.C. swimmers, particularly those of the Canadian Dolphins Swim Club of Vancouver, have dominated the meet since it began Monday, and during the third day added three more Canadian and one Commonwealth record to their collection.

Donna Marie Gurr, 17, led the record breakers as she won the 200-metre backstroke in 2:22.5, lowering her own national standard from 2:24.4 and the previous Commonwealth mark from 2:22.9.

Dolphin team-mates Wendy Cook and Leslie Cliff finished second and third.

Miss Cliff, however, came back in the 200-metre individual medley, winning in a Canadian record time of 2:25.77. The previous mark of 2:27.0 was set by her last year. The other Dolphins, Martha Nelson and Karen James, finished second and third.

The Dolphins' third national record was set by Ian MacKenzie in the men's 200-metre backstroke. MacKenzie won in 2:12.09, beating Ralph Hutton's mark of 2:12.6. Bill Kennedy, now swimming for the Dolphins, and John Hawes of Pointe Claire, Que., followed MacKenzie to the finish.

Two other Canadian records were set. Clayton Evans of Lakewood, Calif., a Canadian native who has been training with the Dolphins for the last month, beat George Smith's mark of 2:13.4 in the 200-metre individual medley, winning in 2:13.29. David Brunwell of Calgary was second and Bob Kasting of Leithbridge third.

Kasting anchored the Leithbridge Amateur Swim Club to a record winning time of 3:41.76 in the men's 400-metre freestyle relay, beating the Dolphins' team by two-hundredths of a second. The Dolphins held the old mark of 3:42.8.

NFL Franchises For Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League is considering granting franchises in Canada during the next expansion, Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said Wednesday.

Garvey was testifying before a House Judiciary subcommittee studying business-sports relations and in particular the Supreme Court's decision on the Curt Flood case to let baseball remain free of anti-trust laws.

Garvey said expansion would cut the players' war going on between the NFL and the Canadian Football League. Many U.S. players had jumped to Canada because of contractual limitations with NFL teams.

Senator Sam J. Ervin, citing the "courageous sacrifice" of professional athletes like Flood, says he will introduce legislation to exempt athletes from what he called a form of slavery that curbs their bargaining power.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Wood On The Ball For Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
California Angels tried to put the knock on Wilbur Wood Wednesday night, but the cager White Sox knuckled and turned the tables and delivered a sharp rap of his own.
Wood outlived California's Nolan Ryan 1-0, singled home the only run in the game, and threw the race in the American League West into a turmoil.
The White Sox, six game out as recently as a week ago, climbed within one game of the one-time runaway Oakland Athletics who lost to Kansas City Royals 5-2.
Elsewhere, Detroit's lead in the AL East was shaved to one-half game over Baltimore Orioles when the Tigers split a doubleheader with New York Yankees 6-0, 1-2 while the Orioles battered Milwaukee Brewers 10-0. The Yankees trail by three games and Boston Red Sox are four back after beating Cleveland Indians 5-2. Minnesota Twins, six out in the West, lost to St. Louis Cardinals 2-1.

Bucs Praise Steve After 2-0 Shutout

Pittsburgh Pirates had nothing but praise for Steve Carlton, Philadelphia Phillies' veteran left-hander, after he blanked the powerful Pirates on a three-hitter Wednesday night.
"He was overpowering," "Amazing!" "A hell of a pitcher!" "He's a machine."
The superlatives came after Carlton struck out 12 batters to lead the Phillies to a 2-0 victory over the Pirates. The victory was his 13th straight and it raised his record to 18-6, best in the National League.
Elsewhere in the league, Atlanta Braves blanked Houston Astros 6-0, San Diego Padres beat San Francisco Giants 5-2, Montreal Expos defeated Cincinnati Reds 4-2, Cleveland Indians turned back Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3 and New York Mets trimmed St. Louis Cardinals 8-3.

ALSO HITS HOMER

Besides his fine pitching, Carlton also hit his first home run of the season and fourth in his major league career.
"I just can't believe anyone can pitch better than he has," Phil's manager Paul Owens said after Carlton extended to 14 his string of innings without allowing an earned run. "And he's a competitor. You give him a run or two early and he really gets tough."
The Phils gave him that run in the second inning against Steve Blass as Willie Montanez singled and raced all the way home when right fielder Gene Clines misplayed Greg Luzinski's single.

Carlton put the final nail in the Pirates' coffin the next inning with his homer over the right field wall of Blass.
But what someone asked, did he think of his performance on the mound against the Bucs, currently the team with the best record in baseball.
"Very pleasing," he said. "It's an accomplishment to hold them to a few hits like that."

HANK STARS AGAIN

Felix Millan drove in two runs for the Braves with a single and a sacrifice fly but it was Hank Aaron and George Stone who starred against the Astros.
Aaron belted his 23rd homer of the season, a two-run shot in the first inning that gave him 682 for his career, just 52 homers short of Babe Ruth's all-time record. And Stone made the runs stand up with a six-hitter.

TIGHTENS UP

Detroit third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez collected two doubles and a single and drove in three runs in the opener and against New York and the Yankees' Celerino Sanchez delivered a decisive two-out, two-run single in the seventh inning of the nightcap.
Woodie Fryman, acquired last week from the Philadelphia Phillies, tossed a six-hitter in his first AL start to win the opening game and extended his scoreless string since changing leagues to 17 1-3 innings.

Unbeaten Rob Gardner held the Tigers to an unearned tally and two singles through eight innings of the nightcap before giving way to relief ace Sparky Lule, who picked up his 25th save.
Luis Aparicio's two-run single in the fifth inning following a wild pitch by Cleveland's Gaylord Perry broke a 2-2 tie and prevented in the Indians' ace from winning his 19th in his second try at it. Rico Petrocelli homered for the Red Sox' final run in the eighth.

Manager Sees Good Reliever In Montreal's Mike Marshall

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Gene Mauch of Montreal Expos says Mike Marshall "is the best relief pitcher I've ever seen."
Mauch has seen a lot of good ones come and go in his 8½ seasons as manager of Philadelphia Phillies before going with the Expos when the National League was expanded in 1969 to include Montreal.

"Mike has outstanding moves with runners on," said Mauch after Montreal scored five times in the ninth inning Wednesday to erase Chicago Cubs 8-2.
"He is a superior fielder. And he has weapons for every hitter in the league—different kinds of screwballs, fast ball, slider."
Marshall, 29, a righthander, answered the alarm in the seventh inning Wednesday with the bases loaded, no outs and the game tied 2-2.

He struck out Don Kessinger. Jose Cardenal grounded to first baseman Ron Fairly who rifled to catcher Tim McCarver to nail Glenn Beckert at the plate. Then Marshall wheeled and threw to shortstop Tim Lincecum to pick Carmen Fanzone off second.

Marshall held the Cubs hitless for the last three innings to register his 10th victory against three losses. He has 12 saves.
He lowered his earned run average to 1.34 in 74 innings of relief and expanded to 34 2-3 innings his string of not allowing an earned run.
Marshall had a mid-season slump last year but ended strongly with a total of 23 saves, second only in the NL to Pittsburgh's Dave Giusti with 30.
Once an all-star shortstop in the Carolina and Southern leagues, Marshall switched to pitching in 1965 "because I lacked ability as an infielder."
He spends his off-seasons studying and teaching at Michigan State University and soon hopes to receive a PhD in education.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

She Has 'Mono' So She Thinks

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 14, and think I have a problem but am afraid that if I tell my doctor he will tell my patients and they will be very upset.

I think I have "mono." For the last two weeks my throat has been sore and I haven't any appetite. I've been tired and weak. I didn't think anyone noticed, but my friends have come up and asked me what was the matter. I told them how I felt and a couple of them have had mono and said that's how they felt.

My counselor at school has talked to me about how my grades have fallen. I act in class as though I'm about to fall asleep, and after school, no laughing or goofing off or going out for sports.

I stay away from my parents as much as I can, and when they ask why I don't eat any more, I say I had a big lunch at school or stopped for a snack.

I know I'm going to have to tell them sometime before my mother takes me to the doctor anyway, but I want to make sure I have it before I say anything to them.—L.P.C.

You've written a classic description of the way mono (infectious mononucleosis) acts. Ordinarily active, alert kids get the droops, are terribly tired all the time, lose appetite, frequently have swollen and sometimes sore glands.

What puzzles me is why your parents should be upset in case you do turn out to have mono. Parents naturally are upset if their children have anything wrong with them, but the quicker they find it out, the sooner it can be treated.

Mono is extremely common among people your age, or sometimes younger, and sometimes a bit older, and it is characterized as a disease of young adults. It has also been dubbed "the kissing disease," but if that is what is worrying you, just forget it. Mono is called that only because it customarily occurs at about the age when young people are getting interested in kissing—but there's no evidence that kissing actually has anything to do with it, because it also spreads in girls' schools, boys' schools, barracks, and other places where you can't blame it in oscillation.

One more thing, treatment of mono is principally (although not entirely) a matter of tender loving care. Making sure you get good nourishing food and ample rest. It then becomes a self-limited disease, and in due time cures itself.

Forcing yourself to go on being active when you're too tired to do so is not good for you. Usually you get over mono with no after effects. But, without proper rest, there is a risk of complications, such as liver involvement, which can turn a simple ailment into a more protracted and serious one.

So, my young friend, don't put off seeing the doctor and telling your parents. The sooner you go, the better for you. And there's no reason for your parents to be upset, anymore than they'd be upset if you got the measles or a sprained ankle or something.

There is no disgrace in having mono.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of excess watering of the eyes? —Mrs. L.

One cause is stopped-up tear ducts, so the tears overflow instead of being drained away through the ducts. But of course any sort of irritation can increase tear production.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way to get rid of pinworms without using medication? —S.E.

None that I know of.

Opening lead—ace of hearts. The Vienna Coup is an unblocking play that precedes the execution of a squeeze. It is not a difficult play—all that declarer has to do is cash one particular high card before running his other winning tricks.

For example, take this deal which occurred in the match between the United States and the United Arab Republic in the 1960 world championship.

South was Marcel Zanarini and North was Georges Gress, both of Cairo. Norman Kay was West and I was East.

Kay led the ace and another heart, which Zanarini ruffed. He then cashed the A-K of trumps and ace of diamonds. It was this cashing of the ace of diamonds that constituted the Vienna Coup. It was an absolute prerequisite to the squeeze that followed.

Zanarini next played three more rounds of trumps, producing this position:

Now he led his last trump, discarding the heart from dummy, and I was squeezed. I could not part with a spade, for that would make dummy's spades all tricks. So I discarded the king of diamonds, hoping Kay had the queen.

But Zanarini had the queen, which he cashed, and that was the end of that. The Egyptian pair scored 920 points as a result of the successful Vienna Coup.

Not only that, but it later developed that our teammates at the other table had played the hand at three notrump, that East had led a heart, and that they wound up going down one.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 11

Aries (March 21-April 19): Home and family pull you back to work so nothing much gets done. Don't try to get large deals going.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Expect a slow morning. You may be able to do something significant for an older person. Activities requiring attention are preferable.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Clearing a way long-standing limitations is your goal. Turn loose whatever has outlived its usefulness, clear your living space.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Getting in a mood is not the answer. Do the minimum essential on your routine work, take time out for meditation.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Friends are sensitive, expect more things than you're likely to offer, so you can't win no matter how you do it.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your sense of responsibility shows and may attract agreement where it fits in with your plans, also somebody making use of your mood.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Pick the area of greatest need for practical consideration. Put your self into correcting neglect, completing stalled projects.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Big decisions, confrontations are better left for a while. Depend on intuition and on your ability to get things done.

Raghuvaran (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Calm down to cruising rate for a steady-paced, pleasant but relatively uneventful day. Finish your workweek carefully.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Early hours are largely useful for decluttering your home and working space, refining plans. Things open up later on.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): This is an excellent time to review your progress, find any needed changes of direction, unburden yourself of futile endeavors.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Finish what you have started first, allowing for moods. Placate younger ones but stay on your intended program. Safety pays off.

Former Senator Fined $10,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A former state senator who was elected a state judge last November was sentenced to prison and fined $10,000 Tuesday for dealing in stolen U.S. treasury bills. Seymour Thaler, a Democrat who served in Albany for 13 years, was convicted last March of lying to a federal grand jury and trafficking in $800,000 worth of bills, $250,000 of which were sold. Thaler, 52, elected to the state Supreme Court and sworn early this year, did not take up his judicial duties pending disposition of the charges against him.

Prohibition Ends In Indian State

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India's Maharashtra state ended prohibition Wednesday for all adults after 22 years. The state government announced that anyone over 21 can have a permit to buy liquor. Only one Indian state, Gujarat, now maintains such a ban. More than 50 persons died last year after drinking contaminated home-made brew.

27 YEARS AGO

He Almost Bombed New York

TOKYO (AP) — Tamotsu Takahashi was a 22-year-old airman in the Imperial Japanese Army and his country was at war with the United States.

Even so, he stiffened when he learned about his assign- ment: Bomb New York

It was Aug. 9, 1945—27 years ago—and Japan's mili- tary leaders realized they were fast losing the war. An atomic bomb annihilated Hiroshima three days earlier; a second devastated Naga- saki on Aug. 9.

Japan surrendered on Aug. 14. But, meanwhile, its lead- ers cast about desperately for ways to turn the tide of de- feat. Takahashi's mission—a one-way suicidal flight—grew out of this desperation.

He was a wireless operator at an air base north of Tokyo. He was ordered to report to another base for a secret mission.

"I didn't know what it was all about, and my superiors said nothing," Takahashi re- calls. But he gradually pieced together details:

Three long-range Ki77s, twin-engined planes devel- oped for civilian use, were to be refitted. They would carry bombs, extra fuel and a crew of two: a pilot and a wireless operator-navigator.

Taka- hashi was to be one of the latter. The Ki77 could fly at 275 miles an hour.

Five years earlier, a Ki-77 and a crew of eight flew 10, 200 miles non-stop on a cir- cular route over Manchuria. This exceeded the 6,750 miles to New York, but allowance was being made for the heavy bomb load.

To guarantee success for the mission, Takahashi says, the planes were to climb to 29,500 feet where the east- bound jet stream would give them extra speed and dis- tance.

Once over New York, the planes were to drop their bombs and then crash.

Takahashi, now a bank ex- ecutive in Tokyo, says: "I'm happy the war ended before the mission could begin. I didn't even have time to be transferred to another base, and I never got to meet any of the others who were se- lected for the mission."

The Japanese defence agency says the war de- stroyed many important mili- tary documents, and it has nothing in its archives on the mission. But it says it has heard it mentioned and some Japanese military leaders may well have planned it se- cretly.

Takahashi paid his first visit to New York last Octo- ber.

Publican, Barmaid Join U.K. Peerage

LONDON (Reuter) — A former pubowner and his barmaid wife have become Britain's newest peers. Following the death this week in the Canary Islands of the seventh Earl Nelson, a 78-year-old bachelor, the title passed to his brother. The new earl is George Nelson, 68, who with his wife Wynn, 56, used to run a pub in London and later operated a pub in Wales.

Damage Caused By Forest Fires Rose Sharply In 1971 Season

VICTORIA (CP) — Damage caused by forest fires in British Columbia in 1971 jumped to al- most four times the 10 - year average, the annual report of the B.C. Forest Service says.

The report, released here said 868,864 acres of land were burned in 1971 compared to 260,958 acres in 1970. The 10-year average for damage is 227,608 acres.

The total number of forest fires last year dropped from the record total of 1970 but was still above the 10-year average.

A total of 2,898 fires were re- corded compared to the 4,003 in 1970 and the 10-year average of 2,374 fires annually. Almost half of the total number of fires last year occurred in August.

The fires cost the forest serv- ice $10.9 million to extinguish compared to $9.2 million in 1970. The average cost per fire was $3,552 or more than double the 10-year average of $1,456.

Lightning continued to be the major cause of the forest fires and accounted for 46 per cent of the total.

An estimated 18 per cent of the fires were started by recrea- tionists and smokers. This fig- ure was down considerably from the 10-year average of 30 per cent.

A record total of almost 44 million seedlings were planted by the forest service to recover losses, an increase of almost 10 million seedlings over 1970, the report said.

Direct revenues from logging operations totalled $67.7 million, or an increase of 8.6 per cent.

Total scale of all products in 1971 was 1,997 million, an in- crease of 3.2 per cent.

The United States remained B.C.'s best customer for wood products, taking 60 per cent of the total production and 70 per cent of the lumber. Japan took 12 per cent of the total and the U.K. nine per cent.

NDP Leader Calls For Responsive Government

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — New Democratic Party Leader Dave Barrett called for a more responsive type of government during a reception at Nelson NDP headquarters Wednesday.

"I feel more and more people are beginning to examine the type of government we've had for the past 20 years," he told about 30 persons crammed into the storefront headquarters.

"We want to do a better job for ourselves and for everybody else."

He noted that Social Credit candidates are not using the name of the Social Credit party on campaign posters.

"Either the candidates are ashamed of the party or the party is ashamed of the candidates," Mr. Barrett said.

Commenting on what he termed "the government's program of antagonizing groups of people," he said "we are interested in a more rational, human approach to government."

Speaking later in an interview, Mr. Barrett said the NDP would alter the policy of exporting raw material.

"We have to begin to bargain from a position of strength. We should make sure maximum use is made of these resources regarding jobs. The NDP would examine the royalty structure completely," he said.

Asked about his party's policy for support of secondary industry, he said:

"We would have no hesitation in working with regions and municipalities in their development plans instead of making all the decisions in Victoria."

He also said the NDP believes a redistribution of the province's electoral areas is "an absolute necessity."

He said his riding of Coquitlam has 46,000 registered voters while ridings in Vancouver with about 44,000 voters each have two members in the legislature.

British Government Orders Food For Remote Islands

LONDON (AP) — The British government ordered today a military airlift of essential supplies to remote Scottish Islands starved of food by Britain's two-week national port shutdown.

Wide-bodied Hercules transport aircraft at the Royal Air Force base of Kinloss, northern Scotland, were standing by to fly 180 tons of flour, cereals, cooking fats and sugar to the Orkney and Shetland Isles.

The food-lift order marked the first use by Prime Minister Edward Heath's government of its emergency powers to deal with the effects of the strike by 42,000 longshoremen. The strikers are demanding more job security and severance pay.

An RAF spokesman said the airlift will begin Friday.

Liberals Blast Socred Okanagan Land Policy

South Okanagan Liberal candidate Roger Tait said in Westbank Wednesday he was shocked at the amount of potential agricultural land in the Okanagan Valley going to waste. He said almost one third of the arable land in the Valley is covered with blacktop, houses and shopping centres.

"Surely this is fair warning that the time for action to protect farm and orchard land is now," he said.

Mr. Tait told the Westbank group that a Liberal government program would have the effect of protecting productive Okanagan land for future generations.

He said the plan would also compensate land owners for development potential.

"Any grower who loves the land and the richness it produces would rather grow fruit than houses," he said.

A Liberal government, Tait said, would institute a land bank program similar to one set up in California. This plan he said would allow owners of agricultural land to specify certain designated areas of land for periods of time and this would be in return for a tax relief on the land.

Mr. Tait went on to talk of the Socred Green Belt Fund which he said was a classic example of "too little too late."

The South Okanagan Liberal also attacked the province's absentee owners. He said a Liberal government would put an end to land speculation by absentee owners.

"Whether American or Canadian, the absentee owners make no contribution to the life of the province and commonly have no concern for the end use of their holdings," he said.

He said these land speculators are only in it for the money, and the present government has made it easy for them, he added.

The Liberal candidate said a Liberal government would take immediate steps to ensure the prosperity of the effective farmer and orchardists in B.C.

He said a government formed by his party would not be interested in confrontation with any other government with solely political ends in mind.

"We are interested in action for the people of this province," he said. He continued by saying the present government's program of "Buy B.C. Produce" was not effective if it only comes in election years.

"Okanagan growers don't need any more studies. What they need now is action," he said.

Hail Damage Action Urged By Provincial P.C. Leader

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP) — Conservative Leader Derrick Warren Wednesday urged farmers in the Peace River area to send telegrams to the federal and provincial governments urging "immediate and urgent attention to the plight of farmers here who have been hit with hail damage."

Mr. Warren's telegrams went to B.C. Agriculture Minister Cyril Shefford, federal agriculture minister Bud Olsen and national Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield. Mr. Warren visited the area during his campaign for the Aug. 30 provincial election.

Mr. Warren said he hoped the provincial government would appeal for federal funds, and suggested the provincial disaster fund could be used to assist farmers whose crops were severely damaged or wiped out in Tuesday's storm.

Vern Leahy, the Conservative candidate in Peace River North, said his crop of cereal grains was ruined, and between 10 and 15 other farms in his area suffered severe or total damage.

Mr. Leahy said he believes the loss for that area alone will total between $2 million and $3 million.

Don Marshall, Tory candidate in Peace River South, said he saw 10 farms in his area which had been hit hard by hail.

Mr. Marshall said many persons whose farms usually escape hail had no insurance against it.

Mr. Marshall said some farmers don't buy provincial government crop insurance because it covers all hazards and premiums are too high. Another problem, he said, is that the provincial scheme covers only cereal grains, excluding grass, legume and clover crops which are important in the area.

Mr. Marshall said a provincial farm subsidy based on actual produce would be better insurance against such devastation. A per-acre subsidy is part of the Conservative party's 15-point program on agriculture.

In the community of Taylor, south of here, Mayor Glen Kylo said the year would be a "total write-off" for many area farmers.

He said hailstones as big as golf balls struck Taylor at about 2 p.m. Tuesday, hurled by blasts of wind. He said the hail at times was flying level with the ground, battering everything before it.

Trees and power poles were knocked down and windows shattered.

District agricultural officer Don Bates said the total loss may go as high as $2 million.

Coming in October: HIGHER MINIMUM WAGES FOR BRITISH COLUMBIANS

In most areas of employment, British Columbia's minimum wage levels are already the highest in Canada. But our minimum wages will be increased even further under terms of the Kelowna Charter, announced recently by Premier Bennett.

Higher minimum wages are only one of the new policies for people contained in the Kelowna Charter. The Charter also includes new job-creating policies . . . a higher pension supplement for senior citizens, plus other important features. To bring these new benefits to British Columbians without any delay, a special session of the Legislature will be held in October.

The Government headed by Premier Bennett continues to build on a twenty-year record of achievement . . . with new policies for all the people of British Columbia. Keep that record in mind on August 30th.

Calls To Pollution Board Suggested Because Of Sewage

RUTLAND (Staff) — A deluge of calls to the B.C. pollution control board has been suggested to get action on the smell caused by sewage being dumped at Reid's Corner.

M. W. Marshall and Heinz Koetz, members of the Regional Board of Central Okanagan, have received calls at all hours of the day and night from people wanting something done about the sewage. It is being dumped from the Calona Wines distillery on Richter Street.

The company says it has done everything it can to eliminate the smell, and that it will just be a matter of time. Eventually the sewage will go into the Brent's Creek waste treatment plant.

Residents claim that, depending on the wind, the smell can be noticed as far as Hollywood Dell. It has made some of them sick, and is driving away friends.

"I'm going to put the number of the pollution control board in Vernon beside my phone and, when people phone me, I'll tell them to call it," said Mr. Marshall, who lives near the site. "If 400 or 500 people call the PCB office, maybe we'll get something done."

The site is actually in Mr. Koetz' area, but the boundaries of Rutland and Kelowna meet there. Mr. Koetz lives some distance from the smell. "It's been terrible," he said. "It's got to be remedied. The time for talk has passed."

"You can smell it all over," said a resident of Killarney Road. "It's sickening. Company doesn't stay very long. The smell even permeates the house."

"When pollution control permits are granted, we will have to take a closer look to see the public is protected," said regional board chairman W. C. Bennett. "The public should not have to put up with man-made smells."

The matter will probably be discussed again when the regional board meets next Wednesday night at 540 Groves Ave., Kelowna.

Two residents of the area brought some of the material to a meeting in Rutland Centennial Hall Wednesday night where Kenneth Kiernan, B.C. minister of recreation and conservation, and Pat Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan, were speaking. The material was soon removed.

At a sidewalk meeting outside about 10 p.m., Mrs. Jordan said that, although the site is not in her riding, she would discuss the matter with pollution control branch personnel.

Residents and Mr. Marshall said they feel putting air in is only making the situation worse, and the only solution is to dump the waste elsewhere.

CHILDREN'S CRUSADE

RCMP Inspector Visits Rutland

By GEORGE WHITELEY
Rutland Courier Staff

RUTLAND (Staff) — The officer who is second in command of Kamloops Royal Canadian Mounted Police subdivision thinks police in the Kelowna area are doing as good a job as they can, and having a detachment here would not help unless it were a large office.

Insp. J. A. Cairns visited the Courier office in Rutland as the result of a letter to the attorney general's department from this paper asking if there were any plans for a detachment here.

At present there are two officers on each of three shifts patrolling between here and Winfield. Rutland Chamber of Commerce and other groups have requested more protection. The RCMP rents a room in the fire hall, used by officers doing paper work.

"We are long past the stage of isolating policemen," said the inspector.

"We are trying to get policemen out of offices and in contact with people."

DUPLICATING

Setting up a detachment here would involve duplicating equipment in the office on Doyle

Avenue, which houses detachments policing Kelowna and the area between Peachland and Osoyoos. Insp. Cairns pointed out the Kelowna office has wire service with RCMP national headquarters and the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the United States.

Six more officers for the rural detachment have been requested in the 1973-74 fiscal year, and four more in the 1974-75 year.

"We are continuing to examine ourselves and trying to do a better job," said the inspector.

With the inspector was Sgt. Vic Edwards, in charge of Kelowna office during the vacation of Staff Sgt. K. A. Altire. He pointed out that, although officers are only supposed to work 40 hours a week, local officers have been averaging 58 hours a week.

Sgt. Edwards said the officers on duty at nights in Rutland check doors on foot as part of their duty. "You'd be surprised how many people have been awakened and told their premises were insecure."

Police have also been able to catch many errand motorists here, it was pointed out.

DUMMY ON ROAD NOT GOOD JOKE

RUTLAND (Staff) — A joke by some unthinking person resulted in a needless call to police recently.

A body was found lying on a road. The driver of a car warned his passengers not to touch it, and called police from a home. By the time officers arrived, the young people found the body was a dummy. Police congratulated them for their good sense.

Police and fire departments cannot bother checking whether calls are authentic. They have to answer them all. Attending false alarms could prevent them from getting to places where they are needed.

And while we're talking about weird jokes, how about the vandals who cut holes in the fence around Rutland Centennial Park, or drivers who race around late at night or early in the morning?

TO SEE DAM

RUTLAND (Staff) — Members of Branch 55, Senior Citizens' Club, will see Mica Dam by bus Aug. 20. Anyone wishing to go should call Leo Scheiber.

Rutland Groups In Regatta Parade

RUTLAND (Staff) — Several Rutland organizations contributed to the success of the recent Kelowna International Regatta.

The Pathfinders, a youth group from the Seventh-day Adventist Church, entered their float in the parade, as they have done for several years, and came up with a second prize. The church also had a booth during the event at City Park.

Miss Rutland, Diane Stein and princess Cathy Berner rode on a float accompanied by four members of the Lions Club. This group sponsored Diane in the Miss Rutland competition, held by the club and Rutland Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the Rutland Volunteer Fire Department were there with their old fire truck. Also in the parade were representatives of Father de Lestre Council, Knights of Columbus.

Last but not least, of course, were the thousands of Rutland people who attended the show, making it the success it was.
